

BLACKROD PRIMARY SCHOOL

Project Reflections – Autumn 2: PSHE

RE – Valuing Difference

In PSHE we learned about Valuing People's differences and how different aspects to school life, like good listening skills and following school rules, can help us get along.

In Autumn 2, the children learned about how to listen to others, and respecting differences through drama activities. Here are a couple above.

School Rules

School Rules

- No throwing food in dining hall
- No going past the bin in forest school
- No harming trees by pulling leaves or them
- No chasing bees, butterflies and wasps
- No picking up worms.
- No making guns ✓

It is important to have rules in school because you may get hurt, and get rolled of. It is important to have rules for the world because if you are driving over the speed limit you may not be able to stop and then the person who is crossing the road will be in trouble.

The children were taught that everybody in their world is different, and that it is important to respect these differences.

Here is a link to look at that include some useful PSHE videos about differences:
