

BLACKROD PRIMARY SCHOOL

Project Reflection – Autumn 1

RE: What do Hindus believe God is like?

Within this project the children have begun to investigate the key teachings and beliefs of the Hindu religion. By using online research skills, information from appropriate non-fiction texts and through exploring Hindu artefacts the children have begun to develop the skills to begin to explain some of the religious practices of both clerics and Hindu communities.

By generating questions around some of the main gods and beliefs that Hindu's hold, the children have begun to hypothesise what this means for the religious community. In turn this led the children to investigate how such beliefs and values around right and wrong affect the daily actions and practices these communities hold in high regard.
